

The indications are that there will be fair weather tonight and Thursday; continued cold; light northerly to westerly winds.

GEN. KUROPATKIN

REPORTS A VICTORY

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1.—Two brief despatches from General Kuropatkin, dated Feb. 27 and 28, confirm the capture of the head of the Shakhe River bridge. Attacks of the Japanese on Ganto Pass were repulsed Feb. 27 and again Feb. 28. The Russians advanced guards still hold their position at Kudzu. The sharpshooters continue to harass the whole Japanese front and, it is confirmed, caused considerable alarm by the use of hand grenades at Sandilapu during the night of Feb. 27.

JAPANESE ACCOUNT OF BIG BATTLE

TOKIO, March 1.—5 p. m.—The headquarters of the Japanese army on the Shakhe River telegraphing yesterday says:

"The enemy's batteries at Tungyoun mountain and the Northern height of Tanchiatun, began bombarding at four o'clock today. We did not reply. "Monday night the enemy's field guns at Shupangtai and heavy guns at Wen-chengpao concentrated their fire on our outposts in the vicinity of the railroad bridge. At 1 a. m. five companies of infantry advanced on either side of the railroad and surrounded our outposts. Finally part of enemy charged into our trenches and engaged in a fierce hand to hand fight. Our outposts had repulsed the enemy entirely at three in the morning. The enemy left sixty dead, some prisoners and some spoils."

FIVE SETTLED

Dealers Sold Renovated Butter and Oleo.

Complaints aggregating twenty-nine counts, charging local dealers with the sale of renovated butter and oleomargarine were heard in police court today. Only two of the defendants had to answer to the oleo charge.

It was insisted that the high price of butter had something to do with the large sale of what is known as renovated or renewed butter.

P. M. Harwood, general manager for the Massachusetts Dairy Bureau, and his corps of efficient assistants were responsible for the cases that were called in police court today. The cases were presented by Mr. Harwood.

The court asked for information relative to renovated butter, and Mr. Harwood explained, in brief, its manufacture. What is known as renovated butter furnishes the basis for renovated butter. The unsaleable but very correct about it the defendants were charged with selling renovated butter in unmarked wrappers and to quote Mr. Harwood there is nothing unwholesome about renovated butter.

The majority of the defendants pleaded guilty and in nearly every case there were two counts. Fines of $25 were imposed in the first count and, as a rule, the second was placed on file. Some of the cases were continued either for one or two weeks. The renovated butter cases were as follows: Alfred Lebanc pleaded guilty on two counts. On the first he was fined $25 and the second was placed on file. The same disposition was made of James A. Edwood's case. Henry Smith, Anton Pertardo, Samuel Rostler, Joseph H. Donnelly, Patrick J. Gallagher and Joseph Bernard had their cases continued one week and recognized in the sum of $200 each for their appearance before the court on that date.

Antonius Drakus, George Wallace, Louis Kiazis and Immanuel J. Sophor, pleaded guilty and had their cases continued for two weeks. They were ordered in the sum of $25 each. John Lazarakis was charged with selling oleomargarine and his case was continued for two weeks.

Three of the defendants were represented by J. Joseph O'Connor, one by D. J. Donahue, one by Peter A. Fay and one by F. P. River.

THE DRUNKEN OFFENDERS. It was Charles Johnson's third offence and he was out on bail. Johnson, who is a young man, was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory. Five first offenders were fined $2 each and two were released.

The case of Samuel and Samuel H. Rostler came up on continuance and was continued for another week.

John McKinnon was charged with breaking glass and was sentenced to pay a fine of $25.

GENERAL STOESEL

AT ST. PETERSBURG

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1.—Lieut. Gen. Stoessel arrived in St. Petersburg this morning from Moscow. A quarter of an hour before his train was due it looked as if not more than a hundred persons would be present to welcome the defender of Port Arthur, but their number augmented rapidly, and when the train steamed into the depot many hundreds of people, especially women, crowded on the platform. War Minister Sakharoff and Admiral Zlotoff, in behalf of the admiralty, welcomed Gen. Stoessel who was loudly cheered and presented with flowers. There was a noticeable absence of military and naval officers.

GERMAN STEAMER

HAS BEEN BEACHED

TOKIO, March 1.—It is reported that the German steamer Romulus, which was recently seized while enroute to Vladivostok with a cargo of Cardiff coal, has been beached in Aomori bay. It is understood that the Romulus struck an iceberg when attempting to pass through Soya strait and was damaged so that she was leaking on her port side when seized by the Japanese. A prize crew was put aboard her and she was started for Yokosuka. Her leak increased and it was necessary to beach her in order to save her.

FRED A. FLATHER

FREDERICK W. FLATHER.

Elected Treasurer of the Boot Mills

FREDERICK A. FLATHER OF CHICAGO, FORMERLY OF THE LOWELL MACHINE SHOP, AND WHO WENT TO CHICAGO ABOUT THREE YEARS AGO TO TAKE CHARGE OF THE McCORMICK REAPER WORKS AND WHO IS NOW MANAGER OF WORKS OF A HARVESTER COMPANY, INTO WHICH HAVE BEEN MERGED ALL THE SMALLER COMPANIES, HAS BEEN ELECTED TREASURER OF THE BOOT MILLS.

Mr. Flather was in Boston, on business, a couple of weeks ago and the treasurer of the new Boot Mills was offered him, but as he was going south on business he did not accept and has not yet done so.

It is believed that he has within a few days returned to Chicago and a definite answer from him is looked for at any hour. If he accepts it is not known definitely just how soon he will get here.

It is generally believed that Mr. Flather will accept and that he will move to Lowell so that this city will have, living with in her walls, at least one mill treasurer.

PICKERS ARE RUNNING.

The picker department in the Boot Mills started this morning and the life of the plant has been revived. There is a good supply of coal on hand and just as soon as the pickers have prepared the material other departments will start. It is a graduating process, to a certain extent, and in a week, or perhaps a little more, the mills will be running full.

MR. DUNRAK'S CIRCULAR.

The following circular tells of the purchase of the Boot Mills by Mr. Dunbar and is self explanatory:

To the Shareholders: I have purchased all the manufacturing plant, buildings, machinery and water power of your Company and have caused the same to be conveyed to a new Company organized under the laws of Massachusetts and known as the "Boot Mills".

The new Company has a full paid capital of $250,000. The shares are of par value $100 each. Arrangements are completed for putting this stock in trust with the Old Colony Trust Company under an indenture made by me with Felix Backmann and others under which they have the right at any time within five years from January 1, 1905, to buy the shares at $50 per share. During this five year period the shares will be in the voting control of the Trust Company.

The Trust Company will issue its negotiable trust receipts for said shares under said indenture.

If the option be exercised, three hundred dollars will be paid in respect of each share on surrender of the trust receipts therefor.

If the option be not exercised, on termination thereof by its surrender or otherwise, the shares will thereupon issue in exchange for the trust receipts.

Your Directors, in negotiating with me for the sale of your plant, having stipulated that I should do so, I now hereby offer to each Boot Cotton Mills shareholder of record on this day, the right to take, at par, said Trust Company receipts for the whole or any part of the proportion of the capital of the new company. The consistory was visited by the Hon. James of the supreme body, namely E. Grace Peck, W. S. in streetness of Boston, Mrs. Ella B. Miller, W. S. P. N. D., of Leominster, Emma J. Hatfield, W. P. N. D., of Leominster.

Each of the visiting ladies, and Mrs. Elvira E. Glavin, supreme priestess, made an address of special interest to the convocation. The obligations of the red and white degree were given to two candidates. The meeting was one of the most important held for a considerable time.

HOUSE LOTS for sale at Wamecet, $9 each, 42 down, 50 cents weekly until paid. Mr. Fogg, Room 22 Hildreth Building.

POLICE CHIEFS

Will Meet in This City

Tomorrow

The regular monthly meeting of the Massachusetts Police Chiefs' association will be held in this city tomorrow. Today, Supt. Moffatt has had the guard room at the police station put in readiness for a demonstration in the finger print business. It will be a sort of a stereoscopic illustration, and the arrangements for it are very similar to those of the ordinary stereoscopic lectures. Mr. Moffatt is very well versed in the finger print system and it is because of that fact that the meeting, this month, is being held in Lowell.

George M. Stebbins, Springfield's city marshal, is president of the association; William A. Furgeson, chief of police of Beverly, is vice president and Alonzo W. Corey, chief of police in Brookline, is secretary and treasurer. The big chiefs will dine at the American house and will hold their meeting there, after which they will adjourn to the police station where Mr. Moffatt will deliver his illustrated lecture on finger prints.

INAUGURATION

Washington Preparing for the Event

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Washington cannot be said to be thrilling with excitement over the preparations for the inauguration. The city is getting busier every minute, and the preparations are being pushed rapidly to a conclusion. The streets are beginning to fill up slightly with arrivals for the fourth, and even an unseasonable stranger could see that something unusual was going on. The something is not beautiful up to date, but it will be.

Throughout the line of the parade from the capitol to Washington circle, a distance of nearly three miles, the bare skeletons of stands are growing around the federal buildings and on the public parks. There will be seating capacity for about 25,000 people along the line of march exclusive of the sidewalks, which are already commanding big prices.

The hotels that are fortunate enough to be situated on the line of march are not only wanted all at once without the trouble of second call. One unwary outsider recently dropped into a second class hotel on the route of the parade and happened to ask the price of a front room for the day. He was told that every one of them had been booked by Christmas, but the information was thrown in that the best had brought $20. That rental is monthly for a week, but as a matter of fact the room is only desired for a single day.

The government clerks will be accommodated on the stands around their respective buildings at a considerably more moderate figure. A dollar or two will buy a seat on one of the government stands; but the private stands will command rather fancy prices, and one can spend all the money he wants for choice seats up to $25 each. The inaugural committee says that special precautions have been taken to prevent seats falling into the hands of speculators; but unless human nature has changed in the last four years there probably will be a number of more or less honest dollars earned in that way. However, a bad day for the parade is that the speculator can be as good as they bite the general public.

The bare skeletons of stands are not attractive features in the landscape, but they will ultimately bloom in red, white and blue, so as to be no longer eyesores on the day of the parade. Pennsylvania avenue from between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets will form the court of history, and of this more can be said later, for it promises to be one of the show places of the city when the stands are completed and decorated. But just now it looks like a lumber yard standing on end.

The most novel articles up to date are the Blue and White Nantux, both memories of the Cuban campaign. Such is the sentimental exuberance of the people, and the boys themselves, with the pick of Dakota's cow ponies, will be here tomorrow.

The only change this year from recent inaugurations is that the stand at the east front of the capitol, where the president will take the oath, is to be in the form of an amphitheatre, instead of square. Its seating capacity is about the same as at the last inaugural, namely 250.

The Ninth Cavalry is a negro regiment and knows Washington well, having recently been stationed at Fort Meyer. They were a part of the first contingent that paraded the Corrick drill there. They entered up the avenue this afternoon, or rather came at the square trot that is characteristic of the American cavalry and looked exceedingly fit.

The finishing touches are being put on the procession office in readiness for the great day. It might not be fair to the artists who have put in much hard work in carrying the plan to go into details now over just what the hall will be when completed. But it may be said that the great court will in the main resemble an old Indian garden, with the blue arching sky overhead.

EXTRA

THE GAS HEARING

Committee Declares Against Any Personal Conflicts

BOSTON, March 1.—The presence of a crowd as great as, or even greater than that which assembled yesterday as well as the fact that Chairman Mosely of the legislative committee on public lighting had been called away suddenly by a death in the family delayed the opening of the hearing on various bills affecting the gas business of Boston. Before the doors of the largest committee room at the State House which, in view of yesterday's experience when the hearing could not go on account of the overcrowded condition of the room assigned for it, had been secured today were opened, the corridors were packed.

A large corps of messengers guarded the entrances with strict orders to limit admissions to persons who could find seats. It seemed but a moment when the doors were opened before all the space available for spectators had been filled and the doors were closed. There was much protest among those who found themselves shut out and several rushes were made in one of which a door was broken but the force of messengers was sufficient to bar the entrance and prevent the crowd from getting inside.

In the absence of Chairman Mosely, Rep. Cole of Andover presided at the hearing. He stated at the beginning that there was apparently an erroneous impression that the committee was compelled to give public hearings, in fact that such a situation prevailed. He said also that the hearing was to be upon bills relating to the capitalization of the Massachusetts Gas companies and that it would be confined to those measures.

No personalities, he said, would be tolerated. This statement was considered significant in view of the fact that for several days past a prominent member of the city and an attorney had been engaged in a controversy in the advertising columns of local newspapers.

Attorney George W. Anderson, representing the public franchise league, was the first speaker. His remarks dealt largely with the past history of Boston gas affairs. The main point of his argument was that the consolidation of the Boston Gas companies should be carried out in a manner similar to the Edison Boston electric light merger, in other words, that the capital of the Boston Consolidated Gas company should be the sum total of the capitals of the several companies, the Massachusetts Pipe Line Gas company being eliminated from the consolidation.

The next speaker, John B. Moran, informed the committee that he desired to be heard on all the bills now in the state house which bear on the Boston gas situation.

Mr. Moran said he represented himself in appearing before the committee. Starting back in the year 1898, he reviewed the different consolidation bills which have failed of enactment by the legislature. In referring to the consolidation act of 1901, he read a letter alleged to have been written by A. C. Burrage to Henry H. Rogers, on Feb. 1, 1901, in which it was stated that in order to put the bill through, insofar as the governor opposed it, "a large sum of money would have to be spent." Mr. Moran then attacked Chairman Barker of the gas commission.

TO WASHINGTON NEW CREMATOR

Company C Will March in Parade

Company C, Sixth Regiment, M. V. M., of this city, which will participate in the parade at Washington on inauguration day, Saturday, left this city this afternoon. The members of the company and officers assembled at the army headquarters and were assigned to their places in the parade and marched to the Middlesex street station where they boarded a special car attached to the 2:10 train for Boston on the Western division of the Boston & Maine railroad.

There were a great many people at the depot to see the boys off.

At Lowell, the local boys entered another special and were taken to Boston.

Upon reaching Boston, the company marched across the city to the south union station where they boarded the train which left at 5:30 for Fall River. Upon the arrival of the company at Fall River it will make its way to the standard and after breakfast the boys will be assigned to their beds in a short time to look around before the boat leaves for New York. The boat will arrive in the metropolis about 7 o'clock tomorrow morning and the members of the local company will take an early train for the capital.

While at Washington, Company C will be housed at the Hotel Virginia, 21 Third street, N. W. The company will leave Washington Monday morning and arrive in Lowell about ten o'clock Tuesday morning. A stop of three hours will be made in Philadelphia and the members of the different companies will have a chance to see a little of the Quaker City. Massachusetts will be well represented in the parade Saturday by six batteries from the First Heavy Artillery, two companies of Infantry from the Sixth, two companies from the Eighth, two companies from the Fifth, one company from the Second, one troop of cavalry, one company of the naval brigade and the ambulance corps.

The members of Company C who left for Washington were as follows: Capt. C. T. Kittredge, 1st Lieut. G. W. Pearson, 2d Lieut. R. S. Going, 1st Serg. S. D. Berry, 2d Serg. G. W. Peterson, 3d Serg. J. FIVE PROPOSITIONS BEFORE BOARD OF HEALTH

Five garbage cremator concerns have been heard from by the health department, including the Dixon company which was prominently mentioned in connection with the purchase of a cremator by the city a few years ago.

Agent Knapp today wrote to Lewis Colwell, the New York engineer, who offers to incinerate the city's refuse free of charge, informing him that any proposition that he may care to make will be given due consideration with the other propositions submitted. He informed Mr. Colwell that the only garbage to be burned in the new cremator is that to be taken from markets, and that the house garbage is sold and the ashes dumped on the lawns. Two methods of disposal which the city does not contemplate changing. In the communication, also, Mr. Knapp states that the agent and one or more members of the board of health will visit some of the garbage plants in operation and will probably also visit one of the Colwell plants.

It was stated at city hall today that Hon. W. S. Watson has a friend who will submit a proposition to remove the city's garbage at a nominal cost.

CHICAGO, March 1.—James A. Logan, Jr., 17 years old, confessed today to having murdered Mrs. Della Tracy, the woman found last night on a sidewalk in the fashionable residence portion of Hyde Park. 6 O'CLOCK NEARING THE END

Fifty-Eighth Congress Waded Through Piles of Business

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The legislative activity of the fifty-eighth congress during its short session just closing may be estimated by the fact that over 100 laws affecting the general public have been enacted, and over 1000 private acts passed. The private acts consist largely of pensions granted, while a few relief measures and removal of charges of desertion make up the remainder.

The regulation appropriation bills all are progressing to completion and some of them have already received the signature of President Roosevelt. The senate has amended and passed arbitration treaties with seven European powers and is American republics. It also has sent to a court and acquitted Charles Swaine, judge of the district court for the northern district of Florida on articles of impeachment voted by the house.

In joint session of the two houses the electoral vote for president and vice president was canvassed and the official announcement made of the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

A revision of the Philippine tariff has progressed nearly to completion without indication of defeat, and an act has been signed intended to develop the resources of these islands by guaranteeing interest on capital invested in railroad building and authorizing the issuance of bonds for municipal improvements, schools and roads. The laws for Alaska have been codified, an additional district judge authorized and that territory diverted to the support of schools, the building of roads and the care of the insane.

Legislation for the government of the Panama canal zone and regulations for the construction of the canal has passed both houses but differences remain to be adjusted in conference.

Two new battleships are provided for by congress in the naval appropriation bill.

The trade mark laws have been revised and an international copyright act passed. Jurisdiction of the forest reserve has been transferred from the interior to the agricultural department. Authority to make army and forest reserves has been granted employees, as a measure of further protection. President Roosevelt has been authorized to set apart a portion of the Wichita forest reserve as a breeding place for game animals and birds.

By resolution of the house the department of commerce and labor has begun an investigation of the oil trust. Obsolete matter has been prohibited importation and transit as interstate commerce. As a further aid in the enforcement of the immigration laws steamships entering U. S. ports are required to furnish complete passenger lists.

Captured Confederate battle flags in the possession of the war department were ordered returned to the proper authorities of the state in which the regiment carrying the colors was organized.

The American national Red Cross society was incorporated as were the trustees of the grand encampment of Knights Templar of the U. S.

Statehood bills have passed both houses and are in conference. Both measures contain provision for the admission of Oklahoma and the Indian territory as one state.

The foundation for railroad legislation has been laid by the passage of a bill through the house after exhaustive hearings and the beginning of an inquiry by the senate which is to be conducted during the recess.

A bill has been called in the extravagance with which public documents have been printed.

The president was authorized to grant medals for heroism in the saving of life in grain wrecks.

The extradition laws of the U. S. were extended to the Philippines.

The state of Arkansas was ceded a strip of land from the Indian territory. A portion of the Bound Valley Indian reservation in California was ceded to settlement. Settlers in the Rosabud reservation were given additional time to establish citizenship. The unallotted lands of the Yakima reservation in Washington were ordered disposed of.

Twenty-eight of the public acts are authorities to build bridges or dam navigable streams, 22 relate to the district of Columbia and four to the judiciary.

LORD HUGH CECIL MISSING AGAIN

Declined to Resign His Minister Believed to Seat Have Eloped

LONDON, March 1.—The political situation is undergoing some rather interesting developments and there are several indications of the intention of the government to slide track the fiscal controversy.

An attempt was made on the part of the Chamberlain section of the Unionist party to compel Lord Hugh Cecil to resign the parliamentary secretary to Green- wich but Cecil declined to do so, and in that determination received unexpectedly strong support from Sir Alexander Acland-Hood, chief government whip, who in a public letter on the subject declines "to act unfairly toward a man who has rendered most valuable assistance to the party of which he is a brilliant member," simply because he does not support the government on the fiscal question.

This letter which virtually accords to all conservative candidates complete freedom of action in fiscal affairs is keenly resented by the Chamberlain group, whose irritation is increased by a letter from Premier Balfour, to the conservative candidates in Butechire, which is interpreted as showing Mr. Balfour's resolve to thrust fiscal reform into the background as an election cry, and keen curiosity is excited as to how the move will be met by Mr. Chamberlain.

Some mystery surrounds the position of Lord Milner in South Africa. While it is known that he has practically resigned and is coming home and that the government is considering the appointment of his successor, no official announcement has been made.

NEW YORK, March 1.—It is believed that Julia Howe of South River and the Rev. J. W. Cordova, former pastor of the Council Methodist church at South River, have eloped a third time.

In May last Cordova and the girl, a member of his choir and a teacher in the Sunday school, eloped from South River. Cordova left his wife and three children. The couple went to Canada, and after two months separated, Miss Bowne returning to her parents and Cordova going to Mexico, after a futile attempt at reconciliation with his wife, who went to live with relatives at Oceanport, N. J.

Now Miss Bowne has disappeared from her home, and it is reported that she and Cordova, who had been in Jersey City for some months, have gone west in each other's company.

The police authorities in Washington and other cities and towns between there and New York have been requested to intercept the elopement.

It is disclosed today that the present elopement takes the third time the two have fled together. It was not generally known before, but about two months ago Miss Bowne disappeared from her father's home at South River, where she had been ever since she returned, apparently penniless, after the first elopement.

Her father and brothers were sure she had gone away with Cordova again, and had located the pair in a boarding house in Harlem. That was last week. She told her father then that Cordova had some strange influence and she could not resist him when he appealed to her.

In the meantime Mrs. Cordova and her children had gone to live with relatives at Oceanport, N. J. She learned yesterday that if two had not together again and immediately started out to find her husband. She met him yesterday in the corridor of the Coal and Iron building.

According to her story, her husband knocked her down and ran toward the street. Several men who had seen the assault started after Cordova, and a policeman on the street, seeing the pursuit, called for him to stop. Cordova, however, made his escape.

Mrs. Cordova then went to Chief of Police Murphy of Jersey City, and Detective Bennett was sent out to find Cordova. Bennett trailed him to the Pennsylvania railroad depot, five minutes before Bennett arrived. Cordova had taken a train for the West, accompanied by a young woman whose description answers that of Miss Bowne.

Link, an aged Hollander who had spent many years in reading scientific works, was found, and beside it an empty bottle labeled "chloroform" and a clipping of newspaper containing Dr. Osler's lecture.

Mr. Link had been discussing Dr. Osler's theories for several days with friends, expressing repeatedly the opinion that the theories were correct and should be put into practice.

Mr. Link was respected by his neighbors who knew him as a great student. He is believed to have procured chloroform by representing that he desired it for use in scientific experiments he was making.

ALLEN "APPROACHED"

But He Yielded Not to the Tempter

ALDERMAN ALLEN MAKES AN ANNOUNCEMENT.

Ward Three Alderman Startles the Committee on Education But He Refused to Divulge Identity of His Tempter—Committee Was Considering Ennell Street School House Plans

Alderman Otis Allen made the meeting of the committee on education, at city hall, decidedly spicy, last evening, by stating that he had been "approached" in the interest of one of the architects who had submitted plans for the new school in Ennell street.

Unlike Pierre Broussseau's case, the pressure brought to bear upon Alderman Allen was not so great that he had to leave town to avoid temptation and he simply pointed the finger of scorn at the tempter and said: "Get thee behind me, Satan. Didst offer $10,000 old sanctimonies I would still show thee the door."

Then the alderman hid himself to city hall and told his story to the committee to the consternation of the highly moral gentlemen who compose that august body.

The committee met in Supt. O'Connor's office to consider the plans submitted by several leading architects, relative to the Ennell street school building.

Alderman Walker presided over the meeting and the excitement occurred when Alderman Allen addressed the committee as follows:

"The committee on education, after visiting several sections of the city, including the Highlands, ward 3, and Centralville, became convinced that the section most in need of a school was Centralville, where the city already had purchased a lot of land in Ennell street. The committee voted to call for plans for a school of 30 rooms, equipped with a hall that might later be converted into rooms if conditions required such a change. The architects of the city were invited to take part in a contest, and the committee offered as an incentive, cash prizes, it being the understanding that the architect whose plans were accepted should receive as his compensation the contract for building the school."

"The 'APPROACH' TO ALLEN.

"On Saturday morning a man came into my office and said: 'I have a friend who is going to hand in plans for the Ennell street school contract.'"

"I said 'Yes.'"

"The man said: 'My friend wants to get the job, and you are on the education committee. He wants your vote. I would like to have you see the plans before the meeting is called.'"

"I said, 'If you laid down $10,000 for my vote, I would say as I say now, there's the door.'"

"Mr. Chairman, this school is going to be built for the school committee, and it is going to be built in a manner that cannot be criticized. I believe that the plans sent in should be turned over to the school committee and the superintendent of lands and buildings. Then they can assume the responsibility. They are qualified to act. I make a motion to that effect."

The motion was not seconded. Chair-

TONGUE REMOVED

Brooklyn Man Was a Heavy Smoker

NEW YORK, March 1.—B. S. Finch, an official of a Brooklyn Coal Company, has submitted to an operation for the removal of his tongue. About two thirds was cut away, yet with the remaining portion of the organ and the muscles of his throat he will be able, after a little practice to speak intelligibly. The operation is the second of that nature performed here within a few months.

Finch had been a heavy smoker for years and complained six months ago of an irritation near the base of his tongue. A cancerous growth appeared and spread so rapidly that when the operation was found necessary the tongue had become affected from tip to base. The glands of the mouth were also congested and it became necessary to remove them.

The tongue was first removed to one side in order that the surgeons could get at the lingual arteries, severing and tying them, and thus checking the flow of blood. The loss of blood was about six ounces and the operation lasted 32 minutes.

HUNGARIAN DIET

EFFORTS TO SOLVE POLITICAL CRISIS UNAVAILING.

VIENNA, March 1.—The last 10 days which have been filled with endeavors on the part of the Emperor Francis Joseph and the Hungarian political leaders to effect a solution of the political crisis in Hungary, especially the formation of a neutral cabinet to render possible legislation and routine business, have brought no result and no improvement whatever. Today the situation is more uncertain than ever.

The coalition of the various Hungarian parties making together the parliamentary majority still continues. The politicians have not succeeded in effecting any change therein. The extreme element of the independence party insists upon concessions from the throne on military questions, particularly the use of Hungarian words of command in the Hungarian army. Francis Joseph's (father of the united opposition) however, counsels moderation and even a postponement of the extreme military demands. To these the emperor gives no direct sign of conceding. In fact the emperor has given no direct information or intimation of any of his purposes or intentions. The Hungarian Diet reassembles March 8, and the combined opposition does not conceal its determination to maintain its present strong position.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Charged with embezzling $500 from the Equitable Fire and Marine Insurance Company of Providence, B. L. John J. Mayberry, for 14 years secretary of the company in Chicago, has been arrested under unusual conditions.

Mr. Mayberry's arrest followed a trip to Providence, and an unsuccessful attempt to explain the condition of his books, which Mayberry admitted as "jumbled." Mayberry was not arrested until his return to Chicago and to his request he was allowed by Samuel G. Howe, home secretary of the company, to return by way of Baltimore, while Mr. Howe came by another route. Chicago simultaneously and Mr. Mayberry's arrest immediately followed.

GRANITE MEN UNSETTLED.

MILFORD, Mass., March 1.—While no strike has been declared at the local granite quarries, the majority of quarries remained away from work today, awaiting an adjustment of differences. The men recently submitted to the manufacturers, a proposition providing for a wage rate of 30 cents an hour for hand drillers and 40 cents for machine drillers, and also requiring that the tool sharpeners for the quarries must withdraw from the stone cutters' union and join the quarries' union. It is believed a compromise will be arranged.

STATE OF SIEGE

Poland Under Modified Form of Martial Law

WARSAW, March 1.—The governor general of Poland today proclaimed a partial state of siege in the governments of Kalisz, Lublin, Kielce and Lomza. As a similar condition prevails in the remaining six provincial governments all Poland is now governed under a modified form of martial law. The proclamation does not give specific reasons for the action taken but it is due to the general unsatisfactory condition of the country. The strike on the Vistula railroad is ended. Train service both north and south of Warsaw has been resumed. The strikers obtained higher wages and other concessions. The strikers on the suburban railroads have also ended and Warsaw's railroad communications have now been restored.

THREATS TO BRIDE

WRITER MADE A DEMAND FOR $5,000.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Threatening letters are reported to have been received at the home of Sidney O. Blair, 4219 Drexel boulevard, whose daughter, Mary Louise, was married to Russell Ely Burke, of New York city, last night.

The missives are said to have contained warnings to the young woman that the Blair residence would be destroyed by dynamite or that revelations of such a character as to prevent the proposed wedding would be made. If she did not place $5,000 where the writer could get it, it was said that the police would guard the house, but police officials said they knew nothing of the affair.

Chief Post Office Inspector James E. Stuart said that a complaint had been made to him, but that the letter did not threaten nervous revelations, and that the writer did not attempt to extort money. He said the letter did not violate the postal laws and that he did not consider it seriously.

RUNAWAY HORSE

STOPPED BY OFFICER WHO ADOPTED WESTERN METHODS.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Mounted Police Officer Louis Martin, one of Commissioner McAdoo's traffic regulating constables, gave Fifth avenue an exhibition of rough riding yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He has spent some time on the plains.

Martin was at Sixty-fifth street when a horse came galloping south, dragging a hansom cab. The driver, George Greenback, had lost the reins, which dangled along the asphalt. Martin galloped alongside for ten blocks, clutching the bit, and tugging with all his strength, but the runaway would not stop.

During the struggle, both horses narrowly escaped collision with vehicles of all sorts. Many people on foot barely missed being run down. At Fifty-ninth street the runaway narrowly missed a crosswalk car.

In front of the Hotel St. Regis, Martin decided to adopt new tactics. He ordered some law enforcement from the runaway and released his hold on the bit. Then whipping up his mount he moved along ahead of the cab horse and at Fifty-fourth street suddenly reined his horse to the left causing it to lunge against the runaway with great force. The cab horse was knocked off its feet, and falling landed on its hunches, in which position it slid along the asphalt for ten feet.

Before the animal had time to regain its footing, Martin and three infantry cops were at its head. Martin was applauded by the crowd that witnessed his stunt.

"That's an old trick out West," said Martin afterwards, "when you can't hold or rope a horse just knock him off his feet and nab him before he gets away."

CAPTAIN MINOT

Tells of the Wreck of the Texas

NEW YORK, March 1.—Captain J. A. Minot, of the steam tug Texas, which foundered at sea with a loss of 22 lives, was brought here today on the steamer Rotterdam, from Rotterdam and Brest. The other survivors of the Texas were landed at Waterford several weeks ago, having been rescued by the brigantine Mercedes after a terrible experience with hunger, thirst and cold in an open boat.

The Texas foundered at midnight on Christmas eve while on her way from Dantzic to Galveston. Two of her boats were launched but one of them escaped. This boat, containing the chief officer and 21 men, sank immediately and all its occupants were drowned. In the second boat the survivors drifted 14 days, the last six of which they were absolutely without food or water. One of the men died from exposure, another became insane and the remaining 12 were on the verge of hysteria when help came to them. They had drunk sea water and their bodies were covered with boils. When taken on board the Mercedes one of the survivors said that they had just drawn lots to decide which one should be killed to furnish food for his fellows. A little later they were rescued by the steamship Zeno and landed at Waterford, Ireland.

Sullivan, of New York, when in Washington, in a time of great excitement at the Regent hotel, which stands at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Fifteenth street, commanding a fine view of the parade, Mr. Sullivan did not take his room "to include rights for March 1" and this is why he has to pay $1000 for his own room on the day of the inauguration. He will have a large crowd of business men, and the statesman from the "Hoover" of like to see some other fellow do it.

Senator Chauncey M. Depew has taken a room in the Corcoran building just opposite Mr. Sullivan's windows, and he will pay $200.

The cost of seeing the inauguration in style is shown by some of the other prices, which are paid for rooms and windows on inauguration day elsewhere.

William R. Hearst is paying the largest price for rooms and front windows in the New Willard. The price for the day is said to be $2000.

Cornelius Vanderbilt is paying $1500 for four rooms fronting on Pennsylvania avenue.

George W. Perkins will pay $1000 for a room at the same hotel.

GRANITE CUTTERS

STRIKE FOR HIGHER WAGES TODAY.

FISCAL REFORM

MOVE TO CALL IMPERIAL CONFERENCE FAVORED.

LONDON, March 1.—The conference of the association of chambers of commerce of the United Kingdom, now sitting in London, today discussed fiscal reform and decided after long and animated debate by the votes of 12 members against 21 that "changes in the fiscal system are essential to provide against unfair competition and an imperial conference should be called to discuss the question."

WAGE SCHEDULE

For One to the Czar

QUINCY, Mass., March 1.—Twelve hundred cutters in the granite quarries of Quincy struck today for a new wage schedule providing for $2 a day as the lowest rate. Hundreds of other workers are also idle and it is expected that within a short time unless a settlement is reached from 2,000 to 2,500 in all will be without employment.

The manufacturers anticipate that the contest will be a protracted one, although some of the quarry owners have large contracts on the books and desire to fulfill them within a reasonable time. The cutters' union is strong financially and is affiliated with unions in other places, including those at Westley, N. L. Barre and Montpelier, Vt., and Concord, N. H.

The last strike here occurred five years ago and was settled by an agreement which expired today. The manufacturers submitted a proposition to the union for a wage scale of $1 for a full day's work, for 1000, the pay of the inferior cutters. This proposal was rejected by the union which insists on a minimum of $2.00 for all cutters. There are several other points at issue but they could be adjusted without trouble were the main condition of $2 a day for a full day's work accepted. It is not clear if it is possible that many cutters will obtain work elsewhere.

Many of the tool sharpeners are idle and the quarry men will also be laid off until the difficulty is settled. The police and other workers will also be laid off. No attempt will be made to organize men to take the place of the strikers so far as known. The workmen in the industry are well organized throughout the country and the strike will be supported if necessary by the treasury of the national union.

The manufacturers say they are willing to pay the wages which are paid at Barre, Vt., but the offer is not acceptable to the men who claim that conditions here are different from those which prevail in Vermont. A proposition to adjust the matter by arbitration of the Western scale was also declined.

EX-COP BLAMED

SAID TO HAVE PLANNED A HOLD-UP.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Thomas Welsh, who, with Jeremiah Healey, a former policeman, is under arrest, charged with holding up and robbing William McKenzle, a Stapleton feed merchant, on Madison avenue, West New Brighton a week ago, was brought before District Attorney John J. Kenney of Richmond yesterday and made a full confession of his guilt, implicating Healey and one Mickey Brogan, who is said to be known to the police.

Welsh said the former policeman suggested to Brogan and himself that Staten Island was a good place for hold-ups, that he "knew the ropes," and that it would be an easy matter to pull off jobs there. Healey formerly had a post on Staten Island and before he was dismissed from the force, the night before the hold-up Healey, according to Welsh, told Welsh and Brogan that he had made all arrangements to rob the merchant, invited them to join him in the job, and they consented. It was understood that Mickey Brogan always carried a large sum of money.

The following night, according to Welsh's confession, Healey stationed them behind a tree in Madison avenue, not far from McKenzle's house, and took his station further up the street. When Mr. McKenzle passed, Mickey Brogan dragged the merchant out from behind the tree, Welsh said, and both struck the aged merchant stunning blows, telling him, "Then they rifled his pockets and took his money and watch and chain."

Welsh said that after they had secured their plunder Healey met them and they quickly left him and came to Manhattan. Welsh said that early on the night of the hold-up Healey had taken him and Brogan to Staten Island and had pointed out McKenzle at his store, and that he gave the signal when the merchant last fall in their hiding place. He also said that he, Healey and Brogan, had planned other robberies, but their arrest prevented carrying them out. After making the confession Welsh was taken back to West New Brighton and locked up. Healey is locked up at Richmond. Brogan is at large.

Welsh said that early on the night of the hold-up Healey had taken him and Brogan to Staten Island and had pointed out McKenzle at his store, and that he gave the signal when the merchant last fall in their hiding place. He also said that he, Healey and Brogan, had planned other robberies, but their arrest prevented carrying them out. After making the confession Welsh was taken back to West New Brighton and locked up. Healey is locked up at Richmond. Brogan is at large.

SAID TO HAVE PLANNED A HOLD-UP.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Thomas Welsh, who, with Jeremiah Healey, a former policeman, is under arrest, charged with holding up and robbing William McKenzle, a Stapleton feed merchant, on Madison avenue, West New Brighton a week ago, was brought before District Attorney John J. Kenney of Richmond yesterday and made a full confession of his guilt, implicating Healey and one Mickey Brogan, who is said to be known to the police.

Welsh said the former policeman suggested to Brogan and himself that Staten Island was a good place for hold-ups, that he "knew the ropes," and that it would be an easy matter to pull off jobs there. Healey formerly had a post on Staten Island and before he was dismissed from the force, the night before the hold-up Healey, according to Welsh, told Welsh and Brogan that he had made all arrangements to rob the merchant, invited them to join him in the job, and they consented. It was understood that Mickey Brogan always carried a large sum of money.

The following night, according to Welsh's confession, Healey stationed them behind a tree in Madison avenue, not far from McKenzle's house, and took his station further up the street. When Mr. McKenzle passed, Mickey Brogan dragged the merchant out from behind the tree, Welsh said, and both struck the aged merchant stunning blows, telling him, "Then they rifled his pockets and took his money and watch and chain."

Welsh said that after they had secured their plunder Healey met them and they quickly left him and came to Manhattan. Welsh said that early on the night of the hold-up Healey had taken him and Brogan to Staten Island and had pointed out McKenzle at his store, and that he gave the signal when the merchant last fall in their hiding place. He also said that he, Healey and Brogan, had planned other robberies, but their arrest prevented carrying them out. GOPON'S LETTER

Priest Sends Warning to the Czar

PARIS, March 1.—The socialist organ, Humanite, today prints and comments on two letters reproduced from the "Tribune Russe" bearing the signature of "Georges Gopon" or "Gopon," the name of the Russian priest who led the workmen towards the Imperial Palace at St. Petersburg Jan. 22, appearing to be addressed. One is a letter addressed to "Nicholas Romanoff, Czar and autocrat of Russia," and says the blood of innocent workmen and the wives and children will forever separate their ashes in and his from the Russian people. The fact that the people has now been misled and it will be useless to expect their progress.

The letter adds: "The blood and the terror of popular insurrection await the official approval of the people. If the blood of innocent workmen and the wives and children will forever separate their ashes in and his from the Russian people, the fact that the people has now been misled and it will be useless to expect their progress."

"Take warning therefore and quickly renounce with all the family the throne of Russia and prevent thereby the outbreak of the Russian people."

"Have pity on the children, then who have been misled and who will be misled by the blood of their fathers and mothers."

The other letter is addressed to the Russian people and declares that the blood of innocent workmen and the wives and children will forever separate their ashes in and his from the Russian people. The fact that the people has now been misled and it will be useless to expect their progress.

City Council Adopts Order on the Treasurer

Order to Ask Abolition of Depot Passed But Held Up in Lower Board—Mayor's Appointment to Health Board Turned Down—McVey's Petition Again Tabled

There was a little of everything on the program at city hall last evening, both branches meeting in interesting sessions.

The board of aldermen transacted their business with haste, but the common council gave a burlesque exhibition that greatly amused those who were seeking entertainment, while taxpayers who were there to see business properly transacted were quite disgusted at the manner in which the meeting was conducted.

Both branches of the city council passed the order introduced by Braden of the appropriations committee asking for a list of delinquent personal estate and poll taxpayers, though not until the members of the committee had assured the city council that the names would not be published. In the aldermen, Chairman Braden made a strong speech on the matter that convinced the members of the upper branch that his order was right.

In the common council, however, the greater part of the evening was devoted to a discussion of this order. Councilman Dodge left the chair and talked at great length, accusing the city treasurer of having violated the law. Councilman Morse, during his remarks, made a reference to the city solicitor's opinion on the matter that was as untrue as it was uncalculated for.

The board of aldermen turned down the mayor's appointment of James J. Spillane to be a member of the board of health.

The common council turned down Mayor McVey's petition for a hearing in remembrance to the order for the discontinuance of the Merrimack street depot.

There were the usual notices of reconsideration.

Walter Murkland, who was present in the interest of the ordinance creating a fifth member of the water board, added to the cavity of the occasion by offering to bet some one $100 that he would be on the water board within six years, as he had so made up his mind.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.
There was a full attendance at the meeting of the upper branch, though three of the members arrived somewhat late.

Pole location hearings opened the meeting and there were no remonstrances on the petition of the telephone company Walker street.

Chas. H. Lane for Percy Parker and the D. Martin Parker estate remonstrated for by the Electric Light company, Merrimack and Bridge streets petitioned for by the Electric Light company. Both petitions were referred to the committee on wires.

Annual reports and the jury list were ordered.

Alderman Braden's joint order directing the city treasurer to give certain information relative to the collection of taxes, was then read, and Aldermen Allen and Walker spoke in favor of it.

MERRIMACK STREET MERCHANT OWES.
Alderman Braden who introduced the order spoke as follows:

"I can't see how a man elected by the people can get up here and advocate the non-abolition of this order. 'Isn't a reporter as much a citizen as any man?' Then why did the city treasurer object to reporting seeing his books? The committee could see the books if they would promise to keep a secret what they found there. They must not repeat what they saw."

"I don't see how any fair-minded man can disagree with the recommendations of this committee. I understand that for 1902, taxes were not collected on a certain plyhouse. Those taxes amounted to $1200. Why wasn't this property advertised for sale if the taxes were uncollectable?"

"Why should the city treasurer abate an uncollectable tax of a merchant in Merrimack street whose work is as good as sold?"

"This order is not a drive against poor poll tax payers but is aimed at men who can well afford to pay their taxes, men who have bank accounts and can draw checks. The committee is in need of this information to complete its report and I hope the board will adopt the order."

When Alderman Braden had concluded his remarks the order was adopted without opposition.

The mayor's appointment of James J. Spillane to be a member of the board of health was turned down under a suspension of the rules, the three democrats, Aldermen Crogrove, Carmichael and Rourke voting in favor of the appointment and the six republicans against.

An order was introduced by Alderman Carmichael authorizing the city solicitor to appear before the state highway commission in favor of the establishment of a state highway along the Lowell-Lawrence car line on the north side of the river.

Alderman Carmichael spoke in favor of the order while Alderman Allen spoke in favor of a state road on the south side though he said he would like to see a road on both sides if possible. The order was then adopted.

On motion of Alderman Hayes, a 10-minute recess was taken and all repaired to the common council chamber. The board remained in the council chamber until after the lower branch had adjourned. At 9:45 they returned and the Hayes sanitary order was read and was adopted by a vote of 7 to 2. Aldermen Rourke and Allen were placed on the committee.

COMMON COUNCIL
VOTES FOR ORDER DEMANDING NAMES OF DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS.

Councilman Dodge read the warrant for the special meeting to 24 members and a great crowd of spectators.

The communication from William H. Braden, relating to the lower branch Douglas company, was referred to the street committee in concurrence.

The petition of Edward D. McVey for a hearing relative to the Merrimack street depot was then taken up on notice of reconsideration. Several members spoke. Several motions were made and points of order raised and ruled upon and finally the petition was laid on the table.

DEPOT ORDER ADOPTED.
A motion was made to take from the table the order sent down from the board of aldermen authorizing the mayor to petition the legislature for permission to abolish the Merrimack street depot and remove tracks in Thordike street. The motion prevailed.

Councilman Cheney moved that a yeas and nays vote be taken on the question of concurrent action and the council approved of this course. Then Councilman Hayes said he would like to know the exact status of the city with reference to Huntington hall. He spoke of $10,000 worth of machinery in Huntington hall and wanted to know if it was to become of that, also the rights of the city with reference to land on the Huntington hall site.

Councilman Hayes thought that the Merrimack street crossing ought to be abolished, and said he was opposed to the measure because of the failure of the B. & M. to remove the Merrimack street crossing.

Councilman Marquette wanted to know the benefit of removing the tracks in Thordike street.

Councilman Cheney wanted immediate action, saying: "There's too much ducking going on in this branch of the city council. If anything of importance comes up some one always wants to duck and lay the matter on the table. There's too much on the table already. We may depend on Mayor Casey, for I believe that he is a sane man and will see that the city gets a fair deal in this matter."

A motion to lay the order on the table was then put and was lost, 12 to 12. The councilmen then voted to act by a yeas and nays vote, and the result was 14 in favor and 12 against. The council then acted as follows: Yes, Alford, Blake, Cheney, Clough, Crosby, Dwyer, Leach, Mayberry, McMahon, Moore, Reed, Sher, White, Wilbur.

No, Alderman Carr, Crogrove, Jones, Daly, J. W. Daly, Donohue, John Donohue, Plimpton, Hayes, McInerney, Marquette, McAlon.

The order was declared adopted. Councilman Donohue moved a reconsideration at the next meeting.

The council took up Councilman Hayes' motion to reconsider the action by which the council turned down the order for a fifth member of the board of health at the last meeting.

The motion to reconsider was lost, 14 to 12, notwithstanding Mr. Hayes' speech in behalf of the order.

The joint order to appoint a committee to redistrict the city was taken up with Councilman Carr in opposition. The order was adopted and the councilman's notice of reconsideration ruled out of order.

Comm. Hayes' sanitary order was adopted. The latter wanted President Dodge to appoint the special committee forthwith but the committee was not appointed.

TAX DODGERS' ORDER.
A report from the committee on appropriations was read. It was accompanied by a joint order calling upon the city treasurer to furnish a list of taxes unpaid for the years 1901-1902 to the committee.

Councilman Cheney asked as to the intent of the order, was it for information or publicity? He was told the order was for purposes of information. He then said he favored it.

Councilman Hayes said: "I would like to see all taxes paid. I pay taxes myself even if I am on this floor. But why have the committee the sole right to look over the lists of delinquents? I don't think this committee has the right to show up people. The committee has the right to go into the treasurer's office and see the books. Why don't they do it? I think this is purely a personal matter, a drive against the city treasurer."

Councilman Carr thought that the committee was too anxious to get a look at the books, too inquisitive.

Councilman Morse spoke in favor of the order and when Councilman Hayes asked him if he could repeat the substance of the city solicitor's opinion on the matter, the councilman in a dismal attempt to say something funny made an unwarranted reference to the opinion.

A query was put to President Dodge and he promptly called Councilman Marquette to the chair. The latter's seat is in the further end of the chamber, an ideal position from which to address the gallery.

When President Dodge called Chairman Marquette to the chair, Councilman Cheney, whose ambition appears to be to make matters interesting for the president, made a jokey remark about getting a man of brains in the chair at last, which tickled the gallery.

Councilman Dodge talked on the order until Councilman Cheney finally arose to ask if he was going to do all the talking.

Councilman Jere Daly asked what benefit a list would be to the committee and Councilman Dodge replied that by its means the committee could arrive at exact revenues and not the false estimate used from year to year. Councilman Dodge explained the committee's purpose and assured the council that it was not the purpose of the list that it was not the purpose of the list.

He stated further that the city treasurer had violated the law in not selling property upon which taxes were owed for two years.

Councilman Hayes arose to the point of order stating that he did not consider it proper for the president to intimate that the councilman is a rogue.

Councilman Dodge quickly denied that he had intimated any such thing and referred to the city treasurer as a gentleman.

Councilman Mahoney objected to the order because the work of preparing the list would take so long that all the departments would be crippled from the long wait for the committee to report.

Several members then spoke and Councilman Hayes was in the midst of another speech when Councilman Dodge raised a point of order that he had spoken more than twice on the subject and he was squelched.

Councilman Cheney offered the information that Councilman Dodge had spoken at least six times on the matter but the president had not kept count.

Some one moved the previous question and a delightful parliamentary mix-up followed, after which the chairman declared the order adopted.

There was some question as to just what had happened and President pro tem Marquette just for luck put the motion again and declared it carried the third time.

SENTRY CAUGHT
HE WAS FOUND IN ARMY STORE HOUSE.
NEWPORT, R. I., March 1.—Last night it was learned that a big system of thieving had been going on at Fort Greble, Dutch Island Harbor, for a long time. The local police claim to have no knowledge of the thieves from the storerooms of the quartermaster.

The thieves stole chiefly fur caps, gloves and canned goods that are issued to the men. The thefts began some time in December and were not discovered until now, when, in taking account of clothing on hand, a shortage was discovered. The matter was kept quiet, in hopes of detecting the thief, but although it was learned that a number of civilians, both in North and South Kingstown, possessed gloves similar to those furnished the army, the thief was not detected until early Sunday morning, when one of the sentries at the storeroom was found to have entered the building, taking his market outside. Upon being confronted the man said he found the door unlocked and went in to see if everything was all right. He was placed in the guardhouse and an investigation was instituted.

CYCLE NEWS
The question, "Is a motorcyclist a cyclist?" has been agitated in this time by a Scotch judge. A motorcyclist held an accident insurance policy for $200, and soon after taking it out was killed in a collision with a wagon. The insurance company contested the claim on the ground that a motorcyclist is not a cyclist. In handing down a decision the judge said:

"In the contract the description of the class to which the applicant is referred seems to me to apply in a motor bicycle, and the rider of a motor bicycle seems to me to fall within this description. The term 'cycle' includes various kinds of vehicles, and in using the word 'cyclist' I think the defendants engaged to become liable to any one using a vehicle which reasonably and properly fell under the description of a cycle. I think there can be no doubt that a motor bicycle is a cycle in terms of this contract. It differs from a bicycle in that it is propelled by a motor, but I think it is none the less a cycle, so much so that this is the case that I am of opinion that if the defendants had wished to exclude motor bicycles from the range of their contract, it would have been necessary for them to state this as a special provision. They do not do this, and I conclude that motor bicycles are embraced by this policy."

A sensational turn now to be seen at one of the London music halls is that in which two motor bicyclists race round a bottomless track suspended in mid-air. The track is composed of wooden battens banked up at a very great angle, and it makes a conical helix, when placed on the stage. Getting their machines going, the riders whirl round the track, the steep banking causing them to be almost horizontal with the stage when traveling rapidly. Once they are properly going the signal is given to lift the track, and it is gradually elevated to a height of about ten feet. Of course this feat has long since been done with a thrilling one, and of the morbid type which the public show such a preference for nowadays. One must admire the skill of the riders, however, and the skillful manner in which they dismount and stop their machines after finishing a "race."

CALENDAR PARTY

Young Ladies of St. Michael's Scored a Success

The calendar party under the auspices of the young ladies of St. Michael's parish held in Associate hall last night was one of the most novel entertainments offered this season.

The hall was crowded to the doors in testimony of the grand work of the young ladies of the parish, headed by Miss Margaret Mccluskey, who acted as general manager and worked untiringly for the success of the affair. They had the hearty co-operation of the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw, Rev. E. A. Carney, who had special charge of the party, and the other priests of the parish.

To those who desired to dance there were distributed souvenir cards, each set numbered and a great deal of amusement was provided by the search for partners, the quest at times leading the seeker a chase all over the hall.

From 8 to 9:30 o'clock there was a stage entertainment under the direction of Miss Blanche Perlin, in which the children of the parochial school took part. One hundred children took part in this and they represented in different groups the months of the year.

WALTER H. HICKEY,
Floor Director.

The children were remarkably well drilled and their clever dancing was loudly applauded. After the stage performance there was dancing, the order containing 15 engagements.

In the afternoon the dance of months was given for the benefit of the children and the hall was crowded with little ones, who enjoyed every number. The Knights of Columbus hall was used by the refreshment committee and here ice cream and cake were served. The other tables, prettily decorated, were stationed in the corners of Associate hall.

PICKETING BILL House Accepts Leave to Withdraw

BOSTON, March 1.—In the lower house of the state legislature yesterday afternoon the committee on labor reported leave to withdraw on the petition to legalize picketing. Representatives to a New Bedford, Scholfield of Ipswich and Parks of Fall River dissented.

The house yesterday debated the adverse report of the liquor law committee on the petition for amendment of the beer law, so that it might be sold with food to guests up to midnight.

Once again the lower branch recorded itself against amendment of the smelter law, although the showing

Who are Tired of POOR BREAD
—TRY—

made in favor of amendment of the present law was stronger than expected and strong enough to encourage the friends of new legislation to move reconsideration at today's session of the house.

The proposition submitted to the house yesterday as a substitute for the adverse committee report, had the referendum attached. It permitted the cities and towns in which cases have been granted for this year to express their sentiments at the polls next fall.

The hardship on Boston of the present law, the opinion and judgment of her business men in favor of amendment, and the paragraphs in the governor's inaugural touching home rule in this matter were all referred to.

Mr. Fiske of Boston moved the substitution of a bill with referendum. Boston was entitled to the same right in respect to this matter of the sale of liquor as is accorded to all the large cities of the country, he urged.

On a rollcall the vote stood 53 to 126, and the substitute was therefore rejected.

ALLEGATIONS OF "GRAFT"

In discussing the bill Mr. Fiske of Boston referred to the constant allegations of "graft" in connection with the bill. It was high time to throw the cause of these allegations out of the house and back to the cities and the people, he said.

He called attention to the large number of first-class hotels in Boston, which pay taxes on $15,000 worth of real estate, and made the assertion that these parties would order by wholesale before 11 o'clock to be used after that hour. He believed if the right was given to sell liquor until midnight, it would tend to lessen the amount purchased.

He dwelt at some length on the claimed error in punctuation, which, after a decision of the supreme court in 1900, made it illegal to sell liquor between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, as Mr. Fiske claimed. He said the Boston press and Boston business men favored the bill.

Mr. Luce of Somerville, in opposition, said if there was more liquor sold to theatre parties now than would be under the proposed law, the hotels would not be seeking this legislation.

He claimed there was no general demand for this legislation, that the only demand came from a few prosperous hotels and a number of commercial travelers.

Mr. Seligman of Boston spoke in favor of the bill, claiming the majority of the people of the city desired the legislation, and he believed the board of police could well regulate the sale for the additional hour. If there had been any grafting, he said, it was done by the other side.

The motion to substitute was lost by a rising vote of 61 to 191. A roll-call was ordered, resulting in a vote of 53 to 126 yeas, and the motion was lost. The report of the committee was then accepted.

BOSTON & NORTHERN
WANTS TO ABOLISH CERTAIN TRANSFERS.

BOSTON, March 1.—The rooms of the railroad commissioners were crowded yesterday at the hearing on the petition of the Boston & Northern street railway to abolish certain transfers.

The company asks the permission of the board to abolish transfers, except within the limits of the town in the towns of Hingham, Weymouth, Stoughton, Scituate and the city of Melrose. Each of the places named was represented by counsel and prominent citizens, called the attendance. The petitioning corporation appeared through Counsel Warren and Garfield.

The session was mainly taken up by Counsel Warren for the company. He explained at length and in detail the reasons that had determined his company to ask the board for the permission to abolish the transfers, and the burden of his argument was the greatly increased cost of operation.

The company was face to face with a situation, he said, which had to be met, either by increasing fares or in a partial abolition of the free transfer system, which had grown beyond proportions.

The representatives of the various communities interested in the proposed abolition of transfers desired to know just how the granting of the prayer of the petitioner would affect them.

Counsel Warren agreed to work out a detailed statement explanatory of the working of the proposed abolition, and promised that each municipality would be furnished with a copy of the same. The towns and the city of Melrose would then know exactly what to meet. With this understanding the board continued the hearing to March 5, at 10:30 a. m.

There will be an open meeting at Merchants' hall, 16 Central street, Thursday evening, March 2, to which all municipalities are invited. The speakers will be Seventh Vice President Walter Ames of Kansas City, John J. Connelly of Boston and S. M. Thompson of Hyde Park.

CIRCLE OF FIRE

Surrounded a Man in Navy Yard Mill

Fire broke out in the picker room of the Merrimack woolen mills at the Navy Yard shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon. James Belanger, an Italian, who was working between two machines, was cut off from escape when the wool started to burn and was badly burned about the hands, arms and face.

The ambulance was called and the injured man was taken to the Corporation hospital, where his burns were dressed.

Belanger is about 50 years old and lives in Collinsville on Primrose hill. The fire was extinguished before a great amount of damage was done.

The Sun receives the full day service of The Associated Press, the greatest news-gathering organization in the world. The entire service received over a leased wire, by our own operator in our own office in The Sun building.

SWORN CIRCULATION OF THE SUN

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1904, was

14,539

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilette, pressman of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1905.

JOHN J. HOGAN, Notary Public.

This is a larger circulation than the combined circulation of all the other daily papers in Lowell.

An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell, and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE-THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

THE SUN'S PLATFORM

FOR THE GOOD OF LOWELL

1. ADOPT a new charter giving the mayor full power to appoint and remove at will, the heads of all city departments and members of all boards or commissions.
2. ABOLISH the common council and provide for a single legislative body of 27 aldermen, three from each ward.
- 3.—CREATE public boards to have charge of streets, buildings, police, fire, pauper and water departments.
4. ANNEX portions of Dracut and Tewksbury, including the "Navy Yard" and the Andover road as far as the Hood farm.
5. ABOLISH the Merrimack street station and the grade crossings at Market, Thorndike and Middlesex streets and extend the northern station to Thorndike street.
6. BUILD a public hall and market on the White lot in Merrimack Square.

Federal supervision of insurance is bound to come.

It is predicted there will be no fixing of railroad rates this year.

No part of the town of Dracut seems very anxious to join us. It is difficult to lift a town out of a rut that is 400 years old.

The appropriations committee will now rest easy. It is assured that there is a way open to see the treasurer's books. The committee will have a look.

If half the charges made by Thomas W. Lawson be true we must have a vast amount of rottenness right here in Massachusetts, in the legislature and in the corporations which have carried their schemes through the legislature.

It is announced that the cost of clearing the snow from the streets will net $30,000. The amount which must be paid in damages for accidents on sidewalks will also be very considerable. Seldom have accidents been so numerous as this winter, owing to the long continued cold and the frequent changes in temperature.

It is probable that the voice of Massachusetts will be raised in favor of uniform divorce laws. President Roosevelt has made this one of his hobbies and has urgently recommended to congress the necessity of such a law. When some states make divorce so easy that parties who want to sever the marital knot for little or no cause, travel thousands of miles to visit these states, it is certainly time to secure uniformity of some kind.

CHASING LOWELL STOCK.

The committee on appropriations has allowed the assessors the sum of $500 for trips to New York to investigate the amount of stock held in certain corporations by Lowell citizens. It is just possible that this may not turn out to be a paying investment; but perhaps it is well to make the experiment.

JUDGE SWAYNE'S ACQUITTAL.

Perhaps the country is to be congratulated on the acquittal of Judge Swayne of Florida. Before the trial his guilt was spoken of in the press as fully established if not wholly admitted by the judge himself. But trial by newspaper has always been erratic in its findings. When newspapers undertake to set free or convict criminals they overstep their proper sphere and should receive no attention.

THE COMMA VS. THE SEMI-COLON.

In no state of the Union are the legislators so deeply impressed and the liquor dealers so extensively educated to the difference in force and effect between a comma and a semi-colon. Lawyers who have to do with wills and codicils are well aware that upon the construction of a sentence as swayed by the insertion of a comma or semi-colon may turn the loss or gain of whole estates. It is another proof of the importance of little things in certain places, a reminder of the proverb "Of small account is a fly until it gets into the eye".

THE WHIPPING POST FOR WIFE BEATERS.

On next Friday at the state house the advocates of the whipping post for wife beaters will be out in force. It would be interesting to give the whipping post a trial since it is favored by President Roosevelt and judges without number, including our own Judge Hadley of the local court. If the wife beaters were subjected to the lash would it not be logical to similarly punish the women who beat their husbands. The number is not great perhaps, but occasionally the police court proceedings develop evidence of terragant wives-belaboring their rebellious husbands.

THE LATE EX-GOVERNOR BOUTWELL.

Since the death of Senator Hoar, if not before, the late Ex-Governor George S. Boutwell bore the title of "the grand old man of Massachusetts" and well he deserved the title. George S. Boutwell was a man of great brilliancy, a man of sound judgment on public questions, a man who has been in the public arena since the early days of the movement to abolish slavery. In that movement he took an honorable part and from that time until his death he showed a patriotic devotion to his country and his state, always willing to make the greatest sacrifices for the public good.

In his later years he distinguished himself as an anti-imperialist, a strong opponent of the expansion policy. Side by side with Senator Hoar he pleaded and argued against the iniquity of buying the Philippines and of assuming the rights of government in the islands but while his arguments were unanswered they did not have the desired effect. As a statesman he took his place among the foremost that the old Bay State has produced.

SEEN AND HEARD

Well March is with us at last.

Tomorrow the Lowell contingent will start on its way to Washington to attend the inaugural exercises.

The Father Mathew Temperance society of North Billerica has a membership of 125, the largest enrollment in the history of the society.

A resident of upper Varum avenue says that he saw a blue Jay on a tree near his house on Sunday morning, which reminds us that the man who saw the first robin is about due.

St. Patrick's day will come on Friday this year and those who are going to observe the day with a banquet will undoubtedly find it on the eve of the feast.

"We will have days of worry soon," said a hotel keeper yesterday. "In a few weeks more it will be a case of battle for your license, for I suppose the commission will go down to business about the first week in April."

March once came in like a lion and went out like a lamb, or vice versa. But now the month comes in like an automobile and goes out like a one horse shay, as the case may be.

Today is the first of March, the month of freedoms and New England town meetings, when the girls wear veils and everyone in the rural districts from the "secedeman" down to the humblest citizen is bustling up on his eloquence and parliamentary preparation to distinguish himself at town meeting.

A local shoe dealer says that the combined leather shoe which has been so popular with men for several years past will take a back seat this season. The day of projecting heels is about past, he says and people will begin to don common-sense shoes that fit the feet and give a neat appearance.

Dr. Martin Morris a Lowell boy who is located in Savannah, Ga., is prospering according to reports received from that section. Dr. Morris was formerly a grocery clerk in this city and later became a veterinary surgeon. Since locating in Savannah he has been very successful. He is a brother of Edward Morris of J. J. MacFarland and Co., and also of Thomas F. Morris.

Fall River will lose $14,400 in license revenues as a result of a decrease of $20 in the license of retail liquor dealers. The fee was $100 but the dealers pleaded with the commission that business is not brisk and that they felt a reduction in the fee was not out of place. The commission declined the request but refused the request of the brewers and wholesalers. Here in Lowell business is very quiet with the liquor dealers but there is no likelihood of a reduction in the fee.

In an old Virginia cemetery there was a weather beaten tombstone bearing this inscription:

"I AWAIT MY HUSBAND."

MAY 28, 1850.

"HEIRIE I AM."

DEC. 11, 1891.

Some joker has read the inscription and added with a pencil: "Late as usual."

Ezra Mansur the regent of Highland Council, R. A., says that March 22 will be the hottest session the council ever had. A class initiation will be held and there will be other things doing that members of the R. A. will enjoy.

The young ladies of St. Michael's parish certainly know how to attract patronage. The affair last night was quite unique and was certainly a great success as was hoped for. Miss Margaret McWhisker and her assistants deserve all the praise that can be heaped upon the entertainment was one of the usual run of these events and was most enjoyable.

A friend of mine writes that Los Angeles affords an excellent chance for hustling young men from the East to push ahead. Incidentally he remarks that building has been given a great impetus there and that he saw more new structures in process of erection than in any other place he visited on his trip to and from the coast.

From El Paso a Lowell man who is visiting there and who saw a bull fight on the first Sunday of his stay there, writes: "It is a cruel exhibition and I cannot understand why the authorities permit it. It disgusted us and yet the natives seemed to take to it just as we get interested in the game of baseball."

Snut, Cleary had his "seraper" at work in Market street Monday and quite a crowd of citizens paused to see how it worked. It cleared away the top layer of snow and soft ice and then a gang of pickers and shovellers got to work removing the solid ice from the street.

The state road fight in Dracut town meeting next Monday promises to be as warm as the hottest battle ever fought on the license question in that town and there have been some exciting ones at that.

James T. O'Sullivan, who was refused confirmation by the board of aldermen of Lawrence when Mayor Lynch nominated him for city marshal, is almost as well known here as he is in Lawrence. He has always been very prominent in Lawrence politics and like every one else who mixes in the game he has undoubtedly made enemies who probably are "getting even" now. There is no denying the fact, however, that he has had a great run in the city and some may think that it is time for a younger man to take charge of the force. It is not believed by Lawrence voters, however, that the mayor will nominate any one else and in that case of course City Marshal O'Sullivan will hold over.

SOME THOUGHTS OR REASONS WHY HUNTINGTON HALL SHOULD NOT BE REBUILT.

Editor of The Sun:

1. The cost to the city of the maintenance of Huntington hall; viz: Interest on the cost of the hall and the cost of the interior fittings of the hall or halls in the building.

2. The amount paid to the B. & M. R. R.—$150 each year for rent.

3. The cost of heating the entire building as called for by the contract with the B. & M. R. R.

4. The loss to the city of the cost of the building over and above the amount of the insurance on the hall, whenever a fire occurs.

5. The cost of the premiums paid for insurance.

6. The salaries of the several janitors stationed at the hall.

7. The cost of police protection for the entertainments given by the various charitable and otherwise organizations for which the city receives no rent for the hall.

8. The cost of inside repairs—paint, new chairs, stage curtains, drops, etc.

9. The cost of the electric lighting of the hall and ante-rooms.

In addition to the above objections, is the fact that a public hall on the second floor of any building is objectionable from the fact that the liability to fire, as exemplified by Huntington hall burning twice within a space of ten years, makes possible a great loss of life's shown by the tragedy theatre in Chicago, and the halls recently burned in various cities.

Again, the position of Huntington hall at the corner of two business streets, and alongside and partially over a steam railroad track is as far removed from an ideal site as could be readily imagined.

The need of the city for a public hall is radically different from that of 1852 when Huntington hall was built. At that time the city government was located in a small building between Shattuck and City Hall avenues. With the rapid growth in population there was a great need of some large assembly room which the various meeting places of the city did not fill, and as a result the B. & L. R. R. with its usual business acumen entered into the contract with the city to erect a hall on its property. The city commenced its annual contribution to the cost of the railroad which they have enjoyed and under the present contract will enjoy until 1927, unless the legislature comes to the relief of the city by allowing the Merrimack railroad station to be purchased, if this is done instead of the railroad reaching $500,000 per year rent, they will make a saving of some thousands of dollars, saving the expense of labor to care for the station, and the saving of the coal and salaries of the trainmen who now run city trains so called to Merrimack street station.

Again the railroad business ability succeeds in making the dear public contribute to their dividends.

With the large number of halls available to the public, in our city, it would seem that the needs of 1852 are not in the present situation. The city has magnificent City hall building, so easy of access, that it is not incumbent on the city to enter again into competition with private capital.

If there is a general feeling that a hall larger than any now in our city can be made a profitable investment, a stock company to build one would seem to be in order.

CANTEN COMMENTS.

I am opposed to the selling of beer to our sailors and marines at any navy yard, or on board any of our men-of-war.—Rear Admiral A. S. Barker.

I have always opposed the "canteen" which encourages soldiers to drink beer when otherwise they might not be exposed to temptation.—Brigadier-General E. Case.

Drink kills more than all our newest weapons of warfare, and not only destroys the body, but the mind and soul also.—Lord Waulsey, commander-in-chief of the British army.

It is my deliberate opinion that our army, now elaborating upon a campaign in a hot climate, would be immensely better off if all alcoholic drinks were prohibited.—Brigadier-General D. S. Stanley.

There is no doubt that the drink habit works very great injury to any army. It has been shown over and over again that those who endure the greatest fatigue and exposure are the men who do not drink.—Brigadier-General William R. Rochester (retired).

I think there is but one opinion among officers of the navy about grog, and it is that alcoholic liquors have no place in the navy of the United States except as a medicine. Intoxicating liquors of all sorts should be abolished.—Rear Admiral William T. Sampson.

MATHEWS MEET

Busy Session of Popular Organization

The Mathew Temperance Institute met in regular session last evening and transacted considerable business, incidentally pushing ahead the arrangements for the society's annual Easter Monday ball.

President John V. Donoghue was in the chair and five propositions were received for membership and four new members were admitted.

Notification of the approaching quarterly convention of the C. T. A. U. was received. The meeting will be held in Boston next Sunday and the following delegates will attend as representatives of the society: Edward P. Slattery, James O'Sullivan, Bernard F. Kane, Walter H. Hickey, Napoleon O. Provencer, Vice President Bernard McNally, Ex-President George L. Hunt and President John V. Donoghue. Final action is to be taken on the amendment to the constitution providing for an insurance feature in the union, and hence the meeting will be largely attended.

At the meeting of the committee in charge of the Easter Monday ball, the Middlesex orchestra was chosen to furnish music at the affair and several other matters incidental to the affair were considered. The Knights of Columbus have kindly offered to the society the use of the entire suite of rooms on the evening of the ball and the offer has been accepted. The supper will be served in the K. of C. hall while the grand march will be formed upstairs also.

A banquet will be tendered the young ladies and gentlemen who participated in the recent production of "The Wife" in Boston tomorrow evening at the Quinby house. For the party will attend the play at the Tremont theatre as guests of the society.

CARRIER PIGEON

ITS TAIL SAID TO HAVE $60,000 WORDS.

It is a curious link with long-continued centuries that the beleaguered people in Port Arthur used carrier pigeons to keep in touch with the outside world, just as the good folk of Modena did not much less than 2000 years ago, remarks Tit-Bits.

But the most interesting use of pigeons in war was undoubtedly when they did such excellent service during the siege of Paris a generation ago. The pigeons, it may be remembered, were sent out of the doomed city by balloons—203 of them; of these, 302 were liberated, but only 73 set foot again in Paris. It is amazing, even in this age of miracles, to think that a single one of these pigeon-postmen carried no fewer than 40,000 messages, each containing on an average twenty words. This means a grand total of 800,000 words, or the equivalent of half a dozen fairly long novels, as the burden of a single bird.

How was it done? Part of the mystery vanishes when we say that the weight of all these dispatches was actually less than a gramme, about one-twenty-eighth of an ounce, and that they were contained with a quess quill one and three-quarter inches long, which was attached by a silk thread to one of the bird's tail feathers. The puzzle, however, remains how it was possible to get over three-quarters of a million words within this tiny compass.

The secret of this seemingly impossible feat was microscopic photography. The messages were first printed in ordinary type, and then reduced by photography several hundred times. The photographs were taken on thin films or pellicles of collodion, each of which, though it was less than two inches square, could thus contain 50,000 words. If these were used a pigeon could easily carry a dozen without interfering with its comfort or speed, and, as we have seen, one bird alone conveyed 40,000 messages.

But a pigeon has carried as much as three-quarters of an ounce for a short distance. This, the French would represent something like 500,000 messages, or 10,000,000 words; so that, under these conditions, it would be quite possible for a pigeon to carry a small library of 120 volumes on its tail.

So impressed were army men generally with the usefulness of the pigeon in the Franco-German war that it was not long before practically every nation in Europe had its trained military pigeons, and today there are more than sixty military pigeon stations in Europe.

BODY IDENTIFIED

WOMAN FOUND BY MOUNTAIN SIDE WAS MRS. MCCOY.

PATERSON, N. J., March 1.—The body of the woman found dead beside a railroad embankment here a few days ago, was practically identified yesterday as that of Mrs. Lillian McCoy of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. She left her husband, William McCoy, in March last after a quarrel. As to her movements since then, nothing definite is known here as yet. A sister, Mrs. William Haven of Poughkeepsie, will come here to claim the body.

Prosecutor Emery will prefer charges of manslaughter against three of the men under arrest and the others will be allowed to go on bail as witnesses.

SHOT A GIRL

BECAUSE SHE HAD REFUSED TO MARRY HIM.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Enraged by the refusal of Etta Schultz, a girl of 17, to marry him, Frank Malla, an Italian boy, a year younger, drew a revolver and shot her twice through the back in Brooklyn last night. The girl was taken to a hospital where it was said she would probably die. Malla made no attempt to escape and was arrested.

MISSOULA, Mont., March 1.—Lake Coon Forest reserve becomes subject to homestead entry today. Between fifteen and twenty thousand acres of land will be thrown open for settlement. The land is in the famous Lost Lake valley and was not aside by President Cleveland as a temporary reserve. The city is thronged with people ready to file claims.

GEN'L STOESSSEL IMMENSE LOSS

Was All Along Opposed $500,000 Damage in to Surrender East Liverpool

NEW YORK, March 1.—Standing under the blended colors of Russia and America, the thirteen Russian officers who recently arrived here as parole prisoners of Japan, boasted the czar of all the Russias and the president of the United States and then chanted the Russian national anthem "God protect the Czar" at a reception tendered them last night by the Slavic Alliance.

Telling of his experiences at Port Arthur, Captain Von Essen, who commanded the Sevastopol, said: "I had been ordered by my superior officers to blow up the ship, but I sank her in the open sea just outside Port Arthur. There were 350 men, officers and crew aboard the ship at the time, and not a life was lost. We took to the boats and rowed to the hills surrounding Port Arthur. Besides being commander of the Sevastopol, I had charge of the Liothian hills and with my little forces held the position, which was not captured, but which was surrendered at the general capitulation. Port Arthur was then in a lamentable condition. There was scarcely any food and but scanty ammunition to last a few days longer. Disease was widespread, but through it all the soldiers and officers made no murmur.

"General Stoessel was personally all along against a surrender. He only yielded to save the lives of the combatants which would have been sacrificed by further resistance. For eight long months General Stoessel had received neither ammunition nor food from Russia and he made his fight solely on the ammunition and food supply within the fortress when the siege began. The Japanese were four to one in all our engagements. Russia entered into this war unprepared, but I and all other naval and army officers believe that Russia will eventually win and I think that she will do it within a year. Russia is fast getting into shape when she will give a good account of herself."

INTO CHARLES RIVER

He Thinks the Real Thief

May Be Alive

David Rhoux of this city, whose body it was thought was that found in the ice of the Charles river near the Harvard bridge last week, arrived home last night at 9 o'clock. He is in the best of health and gives a probable solution of how his dress suit case happened to be found near the body of the man on the ice. It was owing to the stories circulated as to his death that brought him home to try and straighten out matters.

The story told by Rhoux last night is as follows:

"After leaving Lowell I went to different cities. I was in Boston, and from there I went to Fall River. While I was in the railway station in Boston I left my suit case in front of the freight office while I went across the street to get a drink. When I came back, the case was gone, and I

Mr. Rhoux thinks that the thief who stole his grip may have thrown it over the bridge when he found nothing of value in it and that the finding of a man frozen in the ice close by may have been but a coincidence.

COASTING MISHAP

Party on a Double Ran Into a Stump

Joseph Dyer, aged 15 years, sustained several bad injuries, while coasting yesterday afternoon. Dyer resides on the Carlisle road in East Chelmsford and was steering a double runner on which four companions were seated. The double was going down a steep hill and at a rapid rate of speed, when it struck a founce and Dyer lost control of the steering. The double crashed into a stump and the shock threw the occupants in all directions.

Dyer pitched forward and a runner went through the fleshy part of one leg. His companions were cut and bruised, but received no serious injuries.

The boy was carried to the nearest house and then taken, in a wagon, to the Lowell Emergency hospital, where the wound was closed with nine stitches.

THE CASTO.

The scenic novelty "Christmas on Blackwell's Island," heads the current bill at the Casto, and no better combination of the singing and comedy has ever been presented at this theatre. The scene is in the prison on Christmas morning, and the dialogue between the three prisoners and the trusty is exceptionally funny, while the singing is of the best. The remainder of the program is composed of all comedy acts.

BATTLING NELSON

BATTLING NELSON AND YOUNG CORBETT, WHOM HE DEFEATED

LAST NIGHT IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Gave Young Corbett a Terrible Pounding

WOODWARD'S PAVILION, San Francisco, March 1.—Batling Nelson of Chicago made Young Corbett of Denver appear the poorest tyro at the fighting game last night when he practically knocked him out in the middle of the ninth round.

In order to save his man a complete knockout the seconds threw up the sponge.

In the early part of the fight on several occasions Corbett straightened Nelson up with rights and lefts on the jaw, but when it came to following up his advantage his swings were wild. He seemed to be over anxious, while Nelson at all times was cool and confident.

In the seventh round, when it appeared as if Corbett was practically gone, he showed a flash of his old time speed, and landed several severe punches on Nelson's ribs and jaw. It was only a spurt, however, and Young Corbett soon relaxed into his semi-grocery condition, which lasted until the end of the fight. Nelson's plan of battle was to force Corbett around the ring, keeping close to him all the time. Whenever Corbett missed a swing Nelson was there with a return which generally landed.

From the fifth round on Nelson kept Corbett on the ropes and landed at will. Corbett in some way managed to protect himself from a knockout blow until the middle of the ninth. Then, in a rally, Nelson swung his right over the jaw and Corbett went down on his back. He remained down, and then stood up against the ropes with his hands lowered, unable to protect himself. Nelson partly toppled him over with a swing on the jaw, but before Corbett was fairly on the mat his seconds threw up the sponge. The round lasted two minutes and 35 seconds.

In the eighth round Nelson had Corbett against the ropes and the Denver man claimed a foul and lowered his hands. No foul was apparent, and the referee did not allow it. Nelson demonstrated that he is Corbett's superior in speed, accuracy and ability to take punishment, and stiff punches.

After the fight was over Corbett had very little to say. He had no excuses to offer, Nelson, of course, was very happy that his next effort would be to obtain a fight with Britt, who has once defeated him. The fight last night was heavily played by the betting fraternity.

THE STORY OF THE FIGHT.

At 9.51 (12.31 eastern time) Corbett entered the ring. He was followed by an army of photographers who immediately took possession of the ring. Corbett walked about the ring fully three minutes, bowing his acknowledgments to the storm of applause that swept over the pavilion.

Nelson was slow in making his appearance. In the meantime Corbett paced from side to side, smiling and looking very unconcerned. He shook hands repeatedly with friends, and once went among the spectators to greet an enthusiastic admirer. Confidence was depicted on every line of the ex-champion's face.

At 10.07 p. m. Nelson entered the ring. Both men were clad in brown sweaters, Nelson minus his trousers. They shook hands cordially and then went to their corners.

Corbett's seconds were Joe Gans, "Spider" Kelly, Tim McGrath and Billy McDonald.

Nelson was well looked after also, having behind him Billy Nelson, Fred Landers, "Smiling" Meltzer and "Rawhide" Kelly.

Jack Welch of this city was referee.

The round closed with honors in favor of Corbett.

ROUND FOUR.

Corbett waded right in and they fought in a mix to the center of the ring. Separating, Corbett sent left to the head and right to the ribs. Then they exchanged light lefts to the face, and Corbett, backing away, swung left lightly to the face.

Another clinch followed, the crowd yelling "Break!" Both missed, Corbett for the jaw and a left hook by Corbett went wild. Corbett landed two rights and a left to the jaw and they fought viciously in a mix, both landing telling blows.

Corbett broke it up with a right to the body, but Nelson kept after him, roughing it in clinch. The pace was terrific at this stage, both men showing the effects of it. As the bell rang Corbett planted a fearful dash on the jaw that sent Nelson quickly to his corner. It was an even round.

ROUND FIVE.

They went to close quarters immediately. Nelson then chased Corbett about the ring continually. Corbett drew him to a clinch. Corbett swung twice with left to the face, but Nelson countered with right to the head. Corbett then attempted with left to chin and Nelson countered with right and left to the face and body. Corbett then hooked his left to the jaw and in a mix Nelson upped him with left to the jaw and drove in a forceful right to the jaw. Nelson followed his advantage, sending in right and left to the face, driving Corbett and bringing blood from Corbett's mouth.

Corbett fought back wildly, trying to find a vital spot with a knock-out punch, but the Dane kept himself covered. Corbett was extremely tired as he went to his corner, while Nelson was very cool. It was Nelson's round by a wide margin.

ROUND SIX.

Corbett looked worried. They went to a clinch and Nelson shoved Corbett to the floor. Arising, Corbett upped with left to the chin and missed a vicious right for the head. He then landed left and right swings to Corbett's face and blocked attempts at vicious counters. Corbett then ran in to a straight left on the face and Nelson landed left and right to the jaw. It looked very serious for Corbett as the bell rang and he went to his corner groggy.

ROUND SEVEN.

Nelson quickly drove right to the face, but received in return a right to the ribs and left to the face. Nelson got Corbett against the ropes, putting right and left swings to the jaw. Corbett took a terrific beating in this round and looked like a defeated man as he went to his corner. It was all Nelson's round.

ROUND EIGHT.

Corbett lunged out wildly with left and right in the center. Corbett landing several fearful right uppers to Nelson's jaw, dazing the Dane. There was a terrific uproar. It was only a flash in the pan, however, for Nelson kept after Corbett and landed almost at will. He forced Corbett to the ropes with left and right swings to the head and body. He kept up this work, Corbett fighting with an exhibition of gameness seldom seen in a ring. Nelson drove Corbett into his own corner, raining right and left to the jaw. Nelson then got Corbett against the ropes and Corbett threw his arms around his own face to protect himself from the Dane's terrific onslaught.

ROUND NINE.

Corbett broke ground and received a straight left and right to the jaw. Corbett sent in two lefts to the face and then shot a straight left to the chin, but Nelson retaliated in kind, giving blow for blow. The ex-champion was again knocked about the ring and a right to the jaw sent him to the ropes. Suddenly Corbett shot two straight rights to the jaw, but Nelson never budged an inch.

Corbett rallied again, driving left and right to the face. Corbett finally went to the floor from a straight right which caught him on the jaw. He fought his count, got up, but was so groggy that he could scarcely stand. Nelson went at him like a flier, but at this point, seeing that their man was hopelessly defeated, the seconds threw up the sponge, and Corbett was borne to his corner.

EXCELLENT CONCERT

BY THE NEW PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA LAST NIGHT.

The Philharmonic orchestra held an excellent concert at Central hall last evening. There were 40 performers in the company and Mayor

A MATTER OF HEALTH

HAS NO SUBSTITUTE

Casey opened with a few words of welcome and encouragement.

Henri G. Blaisdell wielded the baton and in the capacity of director showed much ability.

The program, which has already been printed, was one of high character.

The great climaxes of the concert were the Schubert funeral march played in honor of the late Theodore Thomas and the Mendelssohn overture, both of which were rendered in a truly inspiring manner.

The Beethoven symphony was given entire and called forth the highest efforts of the orchestra. The applause that followed this was quite vigorous and indeed was well merited.

Mrs. Caroline Cutler of Boston, the soloist of the occasion, made a decided hit. In her various solos she captivated the audience and was recalled again and again.

Altogether the concert proved that there is a strong aggregation of talent in the new orchestra and this concert is a guarantee that its future events will be well worth attending. Only continued effort is necessary to ensure this orchestra a high place in the musical circles of Lowell.

OPPOSED KERENS

President Did Not Want

Him Elected

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 1.—Frank D. Ellis, formerly the confidential representative of the national committee and sub-treasurer, Thomas K. Atkins, has testified before the senate investigating committee that Atkins had told him that President Roosevelt had asserted to Atkins that under no circumstances must R. C. Kerens be elected to the U. S. senate from Missouri. That portion of the testimony follows:

Mr. Ellis was asked: "Now, when Mr. Atkins got back from Washington, what did he tell you that he had learned there?"

"Well, he told me that the administration did not want R. C. Kerens elected U. S. senator. That is what he told me. He also said in that conversation, I call to mind, that the president did not want any more like Elkins, Kearns of Utah, or Clark of Montana in the senate; that he was having more trouble with them now than with the rest of the senate and he did not want any large railroad corporation interested in a U. S. senator, that is what he said; that was published."

Monday evening Lincoln lodge, I. O. O. F., took special care at the square and went to Lawrence to pay United Brothers lodge a visit and witness the degree work. At the conclusion of the degree work the invited guests were escorted to the banquet hall where a turkey supper was dispensed of and a social hour spent. The orators of the evening were District Deputy Jesse Prescott of Methuen, N. G., Martin A. Clark, P. G. H. Harris, G. H. McElroy, and P. G. Moss Wyman of Lincoln lodge, P. G. E. Saunders of Lowell lodge, P. G. Samuel Kellet of United Brothers lodge.

CHILDREN RESCUED

TWO YOUNG GIRLS RUSHED INTO BURNING BUILDING.

PROVINCETOWN, March 1.—Two 15-year-old girls, Minnie Barnes and Jennie Morris, rushed bravely into a burning dwelling house yesterday and saved the lives of four small children.

The house, which was owned by Joseph Johns of East Boston, was occupied by Mrs. Jennie Morris, a widow, and her four children, the oldest being about 6.

Mrs. Morris left the children alone for a few minutes yesterday afternoon, and while she was away the building was discovered by the neighbors to be on fire.

Without a moment's hesitation, Minnie Barnes and Jennie Morris, who live close by ran to the house, and, plunging through the smoke-filled rooms, snatched up the children and escaped without injury.

All were partially overcome by smoke, but revived in a few minutes. The house, which was a small one, was damaged to the extent of $500.

JAPANESE BANKERS

TAKE UP MATTER OF NEW DOMESTIC LOANS.

TOKYO, March 1.—A meeting of bankers and financiers was held today for the purpose of discussing the subscriptions to the new domestic loans, should it be found to be oversubscribed when the list is opened.

At the close of the meeting the associated bankers announced that they would take over $20,000,000, about $2,000,000. The imperial household will take $5,000,000, and other corporations and individuals $4,000,000.

It is expected that the loan will be doubly subscribed. Count Okuma, addressing today's meeting, said that the Japanese domestic financial capacity was expanding every day to its friends. He expressed the belief that the slight disturbances in financial conditions, despite the enormous expenditures was due to the fact that agriculture furnished the country's great wealth. Continuing, Count Okuma said that he believed the country could continue the war without any feeling of embarrassment.
